

Summer checklist

- Roast marshmallows & tell stories around a campfire.
  - Load up the kids in a wagon. Have a picnic & head to a concert in the park.
  - Make fast tracks for the beach & take time to build a sandcastle.
  - Create a fun bug habitat for lightning bugs using a mason jar filled with twigs, pieces of grass and a damp paper towel. Then, have children carefully catch bugs using a net, and seal the jar with breathable wire mesh.
  - Have the kids make a map, “pack” and head out on a “road trip” in a perfectly sized Tesla Model S for kids.
  - Break out the ice cream maker and prepare your favorite flavor as a family. Then, serve it as part of an all-out sundae bar brimming with toppings, such as fresh strawberries, chocolate and caramel sauces, crumbled cookies, sprinkles and gummy bears.
  - Spend an afternoon working in the garden together, using a kid-sized wheelbarrow to haul plants and soil.
  - Draw a colorful sidewalk mural inspired by summer fun.
  - Pitch a tent and enjoy a backyard camping adventure.
  - Play Star Wars dress-up, complete with a sand-pocked Luke Skywalker’s Landspeeder™.
  - Layout some blankets in the backyard and stargaze as a family. Who knows? You may even see a shooting star.
  - Spend an afternoon at the park, zooming to and from in a scooter.
  - Fill up some water balloons and have a blast.
  - Gather the neighborhood kids at dusk for a game of Ghost in the Graveyard.
  - Fill the cooler with homemade sandwiches and cold drinks. Then, go for a hike and picnic lunch at your local state or national park. You can even use a folding wagon to haul your favorite items during the adventure!
  - Blow bubbles, lots and lots of bubbles. Or consider investing in a bubble machine to fill the backyard with bubbles galore.
  - Find a safe location to host a race, and have children bring their favorite ride, such as a trike, balance bike or scooter.
